

680 Hayward St.
Manchester, NH 03103
603-622-3500
hr@marmon-ad.com

Senior Application Engineer

We are seeking an individual who has good communication and technical/engineering skills to join our team as a full time senior application engineer. We would like an individual with a four year degree and a minimum of seven years' experience in military aerospace or shipboard wire and cable.

The job entails working with the engineering, sales, manufacturing, and quality teams internally. This individual will also have contact with customers to provide them technical support and guidance. They will also share responsibility with other team members for review and response to customer concerns with product.

Other responsibilities will entail creating product costs, customer drawings, review of manufacturing instructions, manufacturing process and product improvements, and development of new products. This person will also attend industry meetings, trade shows, and write technical industry papers.

We offer competitive pay compensation, medical package and a 401k benefit package.