

YEAH, IT'S ALMOST THAT EASY!

Control your oil with the touch of a button.

Ok, so we don't have a hand-held remote ... yet. But we make the messiest job in the kitchen one of the easiest. With just a push of a button, automatically fill the fryer with fresh oil. Another push of a button, and filtered waste oil flows from the fryer to the waste tank for storage and collection. Web-based reports on usage and filtering are available any time, and tanks alert your collection company when nearing full. It's called Smart Oil Management®. And it's just that easy.
